Access. Knowledge. Success.Research Project
Advisory Service

Finding the best information for a research project can be complicated, confusing, and overwhelming. The Undergraduate Library can help with its free Research Project Advisory Service. This service, available to all Purdue undergraduate students, offers professional, individualized assistance in locating and evaluating information sources for any kind of research project.

Learn how to:

-  make a topic more interesting to you.
-  find resources appropriate to your subject.
-  search the catalog, databases, the Internet, and more.
-  critically evaluate your sources.

We can help you develop a strategy and find sources that are customized to your particular needs. Appointments generally last about 30 minutes, but may be longer or shorter, as necessary.
