A STAFF E-NEWSLETTER JUNE 11, 2014

HICKS LIBRARY PROVIDES SPACE FOR STAR PROGRAM AND RENOVATES STUDENT STUDY AREA

BY TOMALEE DOAN

What's going on in Hicks Undergraduate Library this summer you ask? Well, I'm delighted to tell you about a new collaboration with the Student Success at Purdue department and the Purdue University Libraries. Throughout June and part of July, the STAR (Summer Transition, Advising and Registration) program will be utilizing all three active learning classrooms and the main gathering area in Hicks Undergraduate Library for welcoming new students. The STAR program allows incoming undergraduates an opportunity to receive academic advice and create their initial course schedule. For students, the STAR agenda includes events such as advising, foreign language testing, a resources fair, lunch, small group activities and registering for classes. For guests and parents, there are resources about health and wellness, living and thriving on campus, involvement outside the classroom and financial aid information. The STAR program is looking forward to utilizing the three Hicks IMPACT classrooms for these various events Monday through Friday, June 16-July 11.

Hicks Phase II Renovations

At the very same time as STAR, the Hicks Undergraduate Library will be undergoing its second phase of renovation at the west end of the ground floor. The space is planned to be a simple layout — a large, open space that is inviting to students. Warm materials and colors will be incorporated throughout the library to add warmth and define areas. Students will have the option of individual study using one of the many study carrels located in the central portion of the library, or in groups at the long study tables. The long study tables will be equipped with table lamps for soft lighting and will line the windows and at perimeter locations within the library. Students will also have the option of lounging in a few lounge settings interspersed throughout the area, equipped with large ganged sofas. This renovation was made possible by an R&R funding grant matched by the Libraries funds. Much of the existing library furniture will be refurbished and reutilized. The study carrels will only be altered in a way to provide electrical outlets at the work surfaces and relocated for a more improved layout. Study carrel chairs will be the KI, Grazie chair made of a polypropylene shell (seat and back) on casters; half of the total with arms and the other half without. The study table tops will be replaced, by Purdue Shops, with a laminate top of minimal movement, texture and color. Table bases will be refurbished to blend with the new finish materials. Quiet study tables along the windows with table lamps will illuminate the refurbished tables. The lamps will be secured to each table, have switches so students can turn on/off the lamps, and will house electrical outlets within the base, giving students easy access to electrical connections. And finally, much needed new carpet will update the space for a clean and fresh look.

The renovation will continue to add informal space to the already highly used learning

ORIENTATION FOR FIRST YEAR STUDENTS: OPPORTUNITIES FOR FACULTY AND STAFF TO GET INVOLVED

BY BETH McNEIL

In just 10 short weeks a new group of Purdue first-year students will arrive on campus for the week long Boiler Gold Rush (BGR) orientation to begin their undergraduate years at Purdue. Several opportunities exist for Purdue faculty and staff to welcome these new students to campus.

Volunteer at Move-In (Time commitment: 2 hours)

Faculty and staff are invited to participate in the move-in process on Saturday, August 16 and Sunday, August 17. Come interact with new students and their families and welcome them to Purdue! Potential volunteer opportunities range from unloading cars, serving drinks, greeting families and directing traffic. Volunteer shifts last for only two hours.

To sign up, simply email bgr@purdue.edu and they will coordinate directly with you. (Photo by Mark Simons, Purdue Office of Marketing and Media)

Attend "We Are Purdue" (Time commitment: 30 minutes)

"We Are Purdue" is an exciting new diversity event to be held during BGR on Friday, August 22 from 6-8 p.m. at Slayter Hill Amphitheater. This festival, celebrating the unique diversity found within the Purdue community, will include a variety of food, live performances by student groups and table displays by diverse student organizations. All faculty, staff and students are invited to stop by as your schedule allows.

Additional opportunities for faculty participation include:

Serve as a BGR Faculty Mentor (Time commitment: 2 hours)

BGR Faculty Mentors will have the unique opportunity to interact with and offer advice to a team of 10-15 new incoming students sometime during the first month of school. Through these interactions the hope is to alleviate anxiety students may have about talking to faculty and to let them know early in their college careers that faculty are approachable. To sign up, please email jtippets@purdue.edu.

Participate in the New Student Induction Ceremony (Time commitment: 1 hour)

To kick off the college career of our new students, the BGR program will host a formal New Student Induction Ceremony as a bookend experience to Commencement. This event, which will be attended by students and their parents/families, includes a formal procession of faculty in full academic regalia with academic messages from the president, provost and student body president. All faculty, deans, department heads and academic administrators are invited to participate. The New Student Induction Ceremony will begin at 4 p.m. on Sunday, August 17 in Mackey Arena. To RSVP, please visit www.purdue.edu/studentsuccess/RSVPinduction. The deadline to RSVP is July 31. This event is co-coordinated by Student Success at Purdue and the Commencement office.

COPYRIGHT IN THE NEWS: HATHITRUST RULING

BY DONNA FERULLO

On June 10, 2014, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit found in favor of HathiTrust in the copyright infringement lawsuit with the Authors Guild. This was an appeal by the Authors Guild of the 2012 decision of the Southern District Court of New York.

The Court found that fair use applied in the making of the digital copies of works for full text searching and text mining as well as facilitating access for print-disabled patrons. They saw that as a transformative use in that the works were being used for a different purpose than the original, intended purpose. The Court did not find that there would be harm to the Authors Guild since HathiTrust had security measures in place so that the full text of the works still protected by copyright would not be displayed to everyone but only to those with print-disabilities. They did not rule on whether or not the preservation argument raised by HathiTrust is valid for certain legal reasons. The Court sent that part of the lawsuit back to the District Court to reconsider.

This decision is great news for libraries and universities who rely on fair use to make new uses of works. There was recognition by the Court that the digital copies made from the print works can be considered lawfully made under the U.S. Copyright Act because of the transformative use. Access to the works are restricted in an appropriate manner and one that is consistent with the intent of the law.

However, there is also a cautionary note from the case. Digitizing works that are still protected by copyright and making the full text of them available to the public without the specific uses articulated in the HathiTrust lawsuit or other legally valid purposes would be beyond the scope of fair use.
