REROUTING, OR: A DAY IN THE LIFE OF AN ASSOCIATE DEAN

BY AYN REINEKE

Imagine that you're taking a long drive to a place you've never been before, guided by a trusty GPS. You have a pretty good idea of where you're going and how you'll get there, until the GPS unapologetically announces "rerouting." Suddenly, you're merging into a different lane, avoiding a collision and squinting to read a road sign on a highway you hadn't planned to take. This is what a day in the life of Tomalee Doan, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs is like, and I'm that pesky GPS. Actually, I'm a lot of things — protector of her time, gatekeeper of the calendar, a backup drive for all the things she needs to remember, her email wizard and her editor. And I'm uniquely positioned to see and appreciate just how hard she works each day.

Tomalee likes to say that there is no job description for her job. It changes every day depending on the needs and priorities of the people and divisions she serves, but she takes every one of those "rerouting" moments in stride.

She is on the Digital Education implementation team, the Honors College Advisory Board and curriculum committee, the Strategic Planning Steering Committee, Dean's Council, and the Undergraduate Education Advisory Committee. She chairs Learning Council, leads the Planning and Operations Council this semester, weighs in on searches that report up through her and makes salary offers, and still oversees the management of HSSEB while her former position remains open. She is the PI for four IRBs dealing with active learning spaces, acts as a reviewer for The Journal of Learning Spaces, shares her expertise on effective learning spaces at numerous conferences every year, and collaborates on manuscripts on a regular basis.

With so much to juggle, it's especially admirable that when asked what she wanted to stress about her daily life as an associate dean, she told me to remind everyone that her door is always open. She may only have a few free minutes between meetings each day, but she spends them talking with faculty and staff, visiting our libraries, and smiling when I tell her that we need to "reroute" her day again. She has only been an associate dean since July 2015, but she understands that flexibility, empathy, and a desire to facilitate and move projects forward are the most valuable prerequisites for the job. So please remember that her door is always open ... unless she's forgotten her keys.

Editor's Note: If you are interested in participating in the series, "A Day in the Life Of" please discuss it with your supervisor and contact Teresa Brown for inclusion in future issues of INSIDE.

STUDENT AMBASSADORS BRING A STUDENT FOCUS TO LIBRARIES OUTREACH AND ENGAGEMENT EFFORTS

BY SHANNON WALKER

This past year, Purdue University Libraries created three new student ambassador positions to support Libraries student engagement and outreach efforts. The student ambassadors support regular Libraries events such as study break activities, orientation events and information fairs. In addition, the student ambassadors plan and communicate messages regarding Libraries services, resources and activities on Libraries social media outlets. As a result of their work, our Libraries communication and outreach efforts are offering a more authentic student voice and perspective. The student ambassadors also provide important feedback to Libraries administration in Libraries planning, communication and decision-making.

STRATEGIC GOAL ICONS

You will notice the use of these icons before the article that are symbolic of our Libraries strategic goals.

SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATION: Libraries facilitate and enhance the continuum of the scholarly communication process.

GLOBAL CHALLENGES: Libraries faculty lead in international initiatives in information literacy, e-science, information access, data management and collaborate on Purdue's global initiatives.

LEARNING: Libraries faculty lead in information literacy and learning space implementation, research and scholarship.

INFRASTRUCTURE: Libraries staff working together to enhance the users experience, raise awareness of Purdue Libraries and recognize the continued learning and successes of our staff.

OFF THE SHELF

Continuing

- Head, Humanities, Social Sciences, Education and Business Division (Faculty). Check the Libraries Employment Opportunities page. Accepting applications; review of applications has begun.
- Molecular Plant Sciences Information Specialist (Faculty). Check the

Brooke de la Croix, Sebastian Kenny, Xavier Villeda

Specific Libraries student ambassador duties include:

- Support the Libraries presence at university-wide outreach events and information fairs
- Assist with event planning and logistics — including Boiler Gold Rush (BGR) and Purdue Day of Giving (PDOG)
- Help communicate and promote the Libraries through Libraries social media (Twitter, Facebook and Instagram)
- Provide feedback on Libraries marketing and communication content from the student's point of view

These students have provided important student insight into Libraries initiatives that will allow us to better align and elevate future efforts.

CONGRATULATIONS

Ilna Stonebraker has been notified by the Office of the Provost that she has been selected as a recipient of the Teaching for Tomorrow Award. She will be one of fifteen "junior" faculty matched with three highly accomplished and experienced faculty who will, over the next year, address important topics and experiences related to teaching and student learning. In recognition of her past accomplishments and future commitment to the program, Ilna will be awarded $1500 in faculty development funds. The initiative is made possible by the Classes of 1944 and 1945.

Research Council has evaluated and awards an International Travel Grant to Megan Sapp Nelson to present "A proposed scaffolding for data management skills from undergraduate education through post graduate training and beyond" at the International Association for Social Science Information Services & Technology (IASSIST) Annual conference in Bergen, Norway, May 31–June 3, 2016.

regarding their current support for digital scholarship, particularly those who operate digital scholarship centers or hubs or are looking to do so in the near future. His talk highlighted some of the most experienced efforts, such as Brown University, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and the University of Virginia and he gave an overview of current projects that exemplified the possibilities of the collaboration between research library and departments. Mulligan pointed out some of the challenges for future collaboration including scalability, sustainability, and how such work is assessed and regarded within the academy.

LIBRARIES NEW STAFF

M Cadwallader
Library Assistant
Hicks Repository

Hi there, I received my undergrad degree from Purdue in Linguistics and Spanish a few years ago. Since then, I have taught English as a Second Language at the Lafayette Adult Resource Academy and worked in Circulation and Technical Services at the Tippecanoe County Public Library before landing back here at Purdue. I am located in the Hicks Repository and have been helping with the increased workload (particularly transfers, withdrawals, etc.) as we all prepare for library closings and the opening of the WALC.

Thanks to those of you who have extended a warm welcome during my first month here. I can be reached by email at mcadwal@purdue.edu or by phone at 49-67264. My office space is located in HIKS B849.

Melissa Waterworth
Library Assistant
Hicks Repository

I began working in Hicks Repository in late February and have been met with many warm welcomes from the Libraries staff. I am currently assisting with the prodigious transfer and withdrawal project.

Before Purdue, I worked in the libraries at DePauw University, wrote for a small newspaper, taught English for a few years, and tried to further the cause of public health in my community as the administrator at the county health department. I am pleased to be among books again and curious to see exactly how libraries are evolving.

At home, I enjoy cooking and baking, crocheting, gardening and relaxing with my family.

You can find me at my desk in HIKS B849, through email at mwaterwo@purdue.edu, or by phone 49-67346.

THANK YOU

BY TAO ZHANG

I would like to thank colleagues and friends in the Purdue Libraries for your continuous support of my work on the Libraries' web presence. As a person from another discipline, I have learned a lot about libraries, library users and how user experience can be applied to the library context. It has been a great pleasure to work with many of you on the Libraries' website, Primo, e-books, GIS, Career Wiki and other web projects.

Purdue is where I have spent the longest time in the United States so far. I met so many wonderful people and have many good memories here. Fiona and I are excited about our new adventures, but we will always remember the people at Purdue.

Boiler up!
Tao
